

WORLD CUP WINNING CAPTAINS DINNER

DAVID KIRK – NEW ZEALAND 1987
NICK FARR-JONES – AUSTRALIA 1991
FRANCOIS PIENAAR – SOUTH AFRICA 1995
JOHN EALES – AUSTRALIA 1999
MARTIN JOHNSON – ENGLAND 2003

In September 2007 the sixth Rugby World Cup commences and England will begin the defence of their World Cup Crown.

The tournament, in which 20 nations will take part, kicks off on 7 September at the Stade de France, between hosts France and Argentina and culminates 44 days later with the Final on 20 October.

On Wednesday 10 October, we invite you to join us for a unique and very special evening, when we have taken the opportunity to bring together all five World Cup winning Captains. This is the last time these five legends will be together before a sixth is crowned some ten days later.

The evening will begin with a champagne reception followed by a delicious four-course dinner. During the evening the five Captains will share their experiences of winning rugby's most prestigious and coveted prize and give their views on the tournament so far.

For any rugby fan, this is truly an occasion not to be missed.
